Health Practitioners Competence Assurance Act 2003

Detail of painting of Dame Whina Cooper by artist the late Suzy Pennington

Dame Whina, awarded the title of Te Whaea o te Motu (Mother of the Nation) by the Māori Women's Welfare League, holds a special place in New Zealand history as a founder of the League and because of her long life devoted to the service of her people and to the wellbeing of women and children. She particularly stressed the value of primary health and the importance of good midwifery services being available to Māori women and their whanau. The whakatau (Māori proverb) on the painting is the chant "ruia, ruia" from the Muriwhenua iwi of the Far North and symbolises inspiration, challenge and hope. The painting has hung in the Council's office since February 2007.

1. Governance

One of the challenges of this year has been the 2020 COVID-19 pandemic. The secretariat was well prepared and all staff were able to move and work offsite with minimal disruption.

Chairperson's Foreword

Tēnā Koutou Katoa. Kia Kotahi Kī.
He i oku nei korero anei he whakatauki
No tou rourou, no toku rourou, kia ora te iwi

What you have in your basket and what I have in mine, the combination will enhance all people's wellbeing

The Council reframed and approved its strategic plan in 2019. Having achieved many of its goals with regards to ensuring that it had the skills and capability within the secretariat it turned its focus to key strategic projects: The review of the scope of practice, competencies and pre-registration education standards and the use of technology to support its business processes and to inform decision making.

Council highlights include:

- Accrediting and approving a fifth Bachelor of Midwifery degree at Victoria University of Wellington
- Continued development of the joint Outcomes-based Assessment project for internationally qualified midwives in collaboration with AHPRA
- The implementation of the online national midwifery exam

The Council continues to engage with key stakeholders. It participates in high level strategic maternity groups around both maternity quality and safety and workforce development. The Council also is represented in an ex officio capacity on the DHB midwifery leaders' group.

The Council has a collaborative and collegial relationship with the New Zealand College of Midwives, ensuring that the perspectives of regulation and professional practice are key elements in all matters relating to maternity and midwifery.

The Council and the Secretariat

The year has continued previous years' patterns, being very busy in all areas of operations. This year saw the appointment of Sue Calvert as the new Chief Executive and Registrar following the previous CE's retirement.

Following on from the recommendations of the 2018 organisational review an Operations Manager was appointed in mid-2019. The purpose of this role is to ensure that the correct operational systems and processes are in place. The Operations manager is also responsible for the IT systems within the secretariat. As part of its move towards a new database the Council undertook a cyber security assessment and is implementing systems and education for all staff during 2020. I want to acknowledge the work that all the staff undertake on behalf of the Council.

The Council regrets to advise of the death of past Council member Annette Black. Annette left the Council in 2018 and was a key advocate for the voice of consumers.

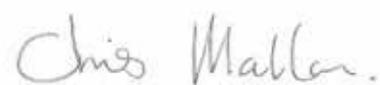

Finally, I acknowledge the commitment, time and knowledge each and every Council member has brought to the Board table. There have been no new appointments during 2019-2020 and the Board has continued to develop.

One of the challenges of this year has been the 2020 COVID-19 pandemic. The secretariat was well prepared and all staff were able to move and work offsite with minimal disruption to service. Midwives were part of the surge workforce and as a consequence of the Council asking for midwives to support the MOH, a number of midwives who had planned to retire contacted the Council and sought to renew their APC. Their motives were to support their colleagues to provide care to women and their babies.

2. Secretariat

As the midwifery regulator, the Council is responsible for protecting the health and safety of the public by ensuring that midwives both maintain and enhance the competence they demonstrated in order to be registered

Chief Executive's report 2019/2020

Tēnā koutou katoa. It is a pleasure to present this annual report. I commenced as Chief Executive in December 2019 and it is an honour to hold this role. Midwives continue to work at the forefront of the maternity services and were pivotal in providing care to women and their whanau as Aotearoa New Zealand entered level four lockdown.

The secretariat has continued enhancing and refining our core processes. Work began in earnest on the implementation of a single cloud-based engagement management system, with roll out scheduled for late 2020.

As the regulator for midwives it is essential that the regulatory framework that sits around the profession reflects contemporary society and is responsive to the needs of women. Work on the review of the scope of practice, competencies and pre-registration education standards commenced in 2020 with the launch of the Aotearoa Midwifery Project, the appointment of a project manager and two Co-chairs - one Tangata Whenua and one Tauīwi - to lead a Collaborative Reference Group. This group will provide expert guidance about the project to the Council. The Council is mindful of changes to the HPCA Act which require that the workforce has competencies that enable effective and respectful interaction with Maori and work has begun to review and consider what this means for the Council and secretariat and also midwives in practice.

The numbers of practising midwives

The numbers of practising midwives continue to be a focus and the Council's practising certificate statistics show that again the numbers of midwives who have been granted practising certificates during 2019-2020 has slightly increased. It is interesting to note the number of midwives who have successfully completed return to practice programmes during 2019-2020. Although still relatively small completions have almost doubled during this time.

Registration of New Zealand midwives continues to be a key priority and strategy to increase the numbers of midwives in the workforce. Victoria University of Wellington sought and was granted accreditation and approval of its pre-registration programme of midwifery education in late 2019. The first cohort of students commenced the programme in February 2020 and are expected to graduate in 2023.

Having identified that programme structure may be a barrier to successful course completion, changes were made to the pre-registration programmes standards in 2019.

The Council continues to work with the Nursing and Midwifery Board of Australia on a project to establish a joint framework for an outcomes-based assessment system to determine competence to practise for some internationally qualified midwives (IQMs) with roll out due in 2020.

Protecting the health and safety of the public

As the midwifery regulator, the Council has the responsibility to protect the health and safety of the public by ensuring that midwives both maintain and enhance the competence they demonstrated in order to be registered.

The Council is accountable to the public, the Government and to midwives and this responsibility and accountability is at the forefront of its decision making.

During 2019/20, the Council received 43 notifications of concern about a midwife's practice. In these cases, the Council first determines if it is necessary to formally review a midwife's competence. When it determines there is a need, a review process is undertaken with terms of reference tailored to meet the requirements. The Council does not investigate the particular case as this is the function of the Health and Disability Commission.

The Council continues to receive many health or fitness to practise notifications. While many are for short term conditions others relating to stress/anxiety, long term conditions and cognitive impairment require more active management by the Council. Many notifications are self-disclosed by the midwives.

The Council receives reports from all accredited providers of Continuing Midwifery Education. These reports show the amount and diversity of continuing education provided to midwives. This education excludes formal qualifications provided through the universities and polytechnics.

The Council has had productive regular face-to-face meetings with the College of Midwives, working collaboratively to better refine our perspectives as regulator and professional organisation on various issues concerning midwifery. Regular meetings occur with other stakeholders including the Ministry of Health, ACC, the Tertiary Education Commission, the New Zealand Qualifications Authority, as well as DHB midwifery and senior leadership.

The Council maintains a collegial working relationship with Australian regulatory organisations, having Memoranda of Understanding with the Nursing and Midwifery Board of Australia and the Australian Nursing and Midwifery Accreditation Council. Since 2014, the Council has become more focused on the Pacific region, joining the South Pacific Chief Nursing and Midwifery Officers Alliance and participating in both regular teleconferences and biennial fora.

The regular electronic newsletter eMidpoint is sent to all midwives with a practising certificate as well as many other stakeholders.

The work of the secretariat

Business as usual, that is the work flowing from the Council’s statutory processes, remains at a high level of activity.

I commenced as Chief Executive in December 2019 and it is an honour to hold this role.

Moving to a new database will mean that work will need to continue on business process and redesign. This will impact on the workflows within the secretariat. An operations manager was appointed in June 2019 to manage workflow and to prepare the secretariat for the system.

With changes in the HPCA Act the Council will be required to undergo a performance review. During 2019-2020 work has continued by a subset of all responsible authorities and the Ministry around the terms of reference and core standards for the reviews. Once these have been developed a timeline for reviews will occur. Although there is no indication at this time, all first reviews must occur before April 2022.

Developing a naming policy

Another change in the Act has been the requirement for all responsible authorities to develop a naming policy. In late 2019, a consultation was undertaken on the Council's proposed policy. The purpose of the policy is to define the criteria that will be applied by the Council when deciding to publish an order about a midwife's practice and to describe the process that is followed. The policy was approved by the Council at its meeting in January 2020.

The Council and secretariat were saddened by the sudden death of Judith Norman in 2019. Judith had been a staff member for many years and had developed relationships with midwifery educators and stakeholders around New Zealand. The unexpected death of its legal advisor Renee Riddell Garner in May 2019 also took its toll and required the Council to consider new ways of obtaining advice.

The new staff structure and the appointment of a new Chief Executive at the end of 2019 has meant that the secretariat has undergone a significant change during this time. I wish to acknowledge the staff who have adapted to this change and who continue to provide excellent service.

Ngā manaakitanga,

Dr Sue Calvert
Chief Executive and Registrar

Registration of, and Practising Certificates for, midwives

a. Scopes of practice

The Council has the responsibility to:

- specify the midwifery scope of practice

For the year to 31st March 2020 there was only one scope of practice. No amendments were made to the scope however the Council agreed that the provision of abortion services to women sat within the midwifery scope. As a consequence of this decision, work will commence on prescribing the education required for midwives who chose to provide these services.

b. Accreditation

The Council has the responsibility to:

- accredit and monitor the institutions offering the pre-registration Midwifery programme
- set standards for the Midwifery pre-registration programme

Pre-registration education

The Bachelor of Midwifery programmes are delivered at five schools of midwifery - Auckland University of Technology (AUT), Waikato Institute of Technology (WINTeC), Ara Institute of Canterbury and Otago Polytechnic.

The Council accredited Victoria University of Wellington as the fifth provider of pre-registration midwifery education during 2019 with the first cohort of students entering the programme in 2020 and ultimately the workforce in late 2023.

During the 2018 accreditation process it was identified that providing the degree programme over an extended academic year could potentially impact on student wellbeing.

As a result, the Council consulted on some changes to the pre-registration education standards. As a consequence of the consultation schools now have the option to provide the programme of education over four academic years.

Both Victoria University of Wellington and AUT gained approval to provide the degree over a traditional four year academic pathway. In addition, AUT has retained its ability to provide the degree over an extended academic year pathway.

National Midwifery Examination

A pass in the National Midwifery Examination is one of the requirements for Entry to the Register of Midwives.

Traditionally graduates from schools of midwifery were only able to sit the exam at one of three sittings during each year. Sittings were scheduled to align with course completion from the schools of midwifery and occurred in December, March and July. This meant if a student was delayed in completing their programme of education that there was also a delay in completing this requirement and then entering the Register.

During 2019 the Council progressed a project to deliver the National Exam online.

The exam is now outsourced to a provider for delivery and this has meant that students are able to sit the exam once they have formally completed their programme of education and the Council has been notified of this. While large groups continue to sit in December, March and July, individual sittings occur during the year. Results are usually available within 48 hours of the candidate sitting the exam which is a significant improvement.

This has significantly improved the time taken for registration to occur and this is highlighted in 2020 as there are two cohorts of AUT graduates captured in the registration data.

c. Registration

The Council has the responsibility to:

- set standards of competence required for entry to the Register of midwives
- assess applications and authorise registration
- set and monitor individual competence programmes for newly registered

Internationally Qualified Midwives

Midwives apply to be registered and make payment online. All applications are assessed to ensure that applicants satisfy the requirements for registration as set out in s16 of the Health Practitioners Competence Assurance Act 2003.

Table 3: Percentage of registrations between 1 April 2010 and 31 March 2019 with comparisons with previous years: New Zealand graduates compared to all internationally qualified midwives

Midwives in their first year of practice

From 1 February 2015, the Council made it mandatory for all new graduates to enrol in and successfully complete the Midwifery First Year of Practice (MFYP) programme. The MFYP programme is funded by Health Workforce New Zealand and provided by the New Zealand College of Midwives.

The Council receives high level reports from the MFYP programme. These show the number of midwives who have successfully completed the programme, the DHB in which they practise as LMCs or as core midwives.

While the Council does not register internationally qualified midwives with less than two years clinical practice it does register those graduates who enter the register via the TTMRA.

Since November 2014, the Council has required any new graduates registering under TTMRA to also complete the MFYP programme. It is the Council's expectation that internationally qualified midwives enrolled in the MFYP will prioritise the Overseas Competence Programme education requirements and that these are completed as part of completion of MFYP.

In addition to completion of the MFYP, the Council also receives reports from employers about the competence of Australian-qualified new graduates.

Notifications about midwives in their first year of practice

The Council is mindful of its role to protect the safety of the public by ensuring midwives are competent to practise and that the public can have confidence that the practice of new graduates does not put them at greater risk. It continues to analyse the complaints it has received about the practice of new graduate midwives.

This analysis shows there have been 16 notifications between 2004 and 31 March 2020 and of these, 8 have been found to have competence issues. During this time, 2143 new graduates have been entered onto the Register of Midwives.

Competence Programmes for internationally qualified midwives

All internationally qualified midwives including applicants registering under the TTMRA are required to undertake a competence or 'transition to New Zealand practice' programme which addresses aspects of midwifery practice which are unique to New Zealand.

The programme comprises the following components:

- NZ Midwifery and Maternity Systems
- Pharmacology and Prescribing
- Assessment of the Newborn (theory and practice)
- Treaty of Waitangi
- Cultural Competence

In addition, all internationally qualified midwives are required to have a mentor who meets regularly with the midwife and assists her with her transition to New Zealand practice.

Mentors are required to furnish the Council with regular reports about this transition and are expected to alert the Council to any possible issues.

Mentoring is for the minimum of one year. Conditions are placed on the midwife's APC while they complete this education. These conditions prohibit certain activities for example prescribing until successful completion of the necessary education occurs.

d. Practising certificates

The Council has the responsibility to:

- issue annual practising certificates to those midwives who it is satisfied are competent to practise midwifery

As at 31 March 2020, more midwives (3,382) held practising certificates than any year since 2004/05. The number of new graduate midwives entering the workforce showed an increase to 214 however this is due to capturing two cohorts of AUT graduates in one registration year. The number of midwives who held practising certificates at 30 April 2020 was only marginally smaller than those at 31st March.

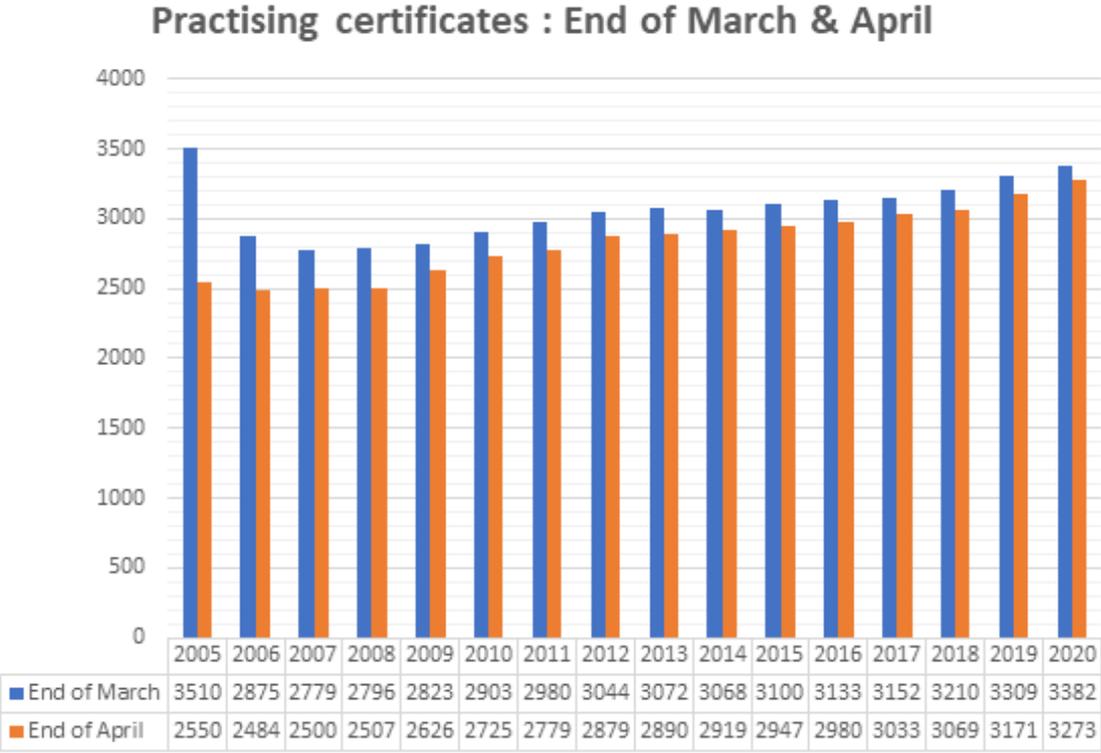

Table 4: Applications for an annual practising certificate 2019/20

	HPCCA Section	Number	Outcomes
			APC no conditions	APC with conditions	Interim	No APC
Total *	-	3,422	3,148	231	43	-
Reasons fo non-issue of Practising Certificate	-	-	-	-	-	-

* Some midwives held more than one practising certificate during the period – typically in these cases one or more interim practising certificates were granted followed by an annual practising certificate . 3,422 practising certificates were issued to 3,382 individual midwives during the period.

 In addition to the reasons above, one application was either withdrawn by the applicant or declined due to non-payment of the fee. Often these applicants reapplied later.

Table 5: Comparative figures of midwives holding a practising certificate at the end of March 2020 and at 30 April 2020

Fees

Following a consultation in 2019 all fees increased in February 2020. There was a marginal increase in APC fees and the fee is now $425. Midwives also pay a disciplinary levy of $50.

Return to Practice Programme

The Council has the responsibility to:

- set and monitor individual competence programmes for midwives returning to midwifery after three years or more

Midwives who seek to return to work as a midwife after an absence of more than three years must demonstrate their competence to practise by completing a Return to Practice Programme agreed with the Council.

The current Return to Practice programme requirements for all midwives consist of a mixture of education, clinical practice upskilling and mentorship. The requirements vary depending on the length of time that a midwife has been out of practice. In some cases midwives are required to undergo a competence assessment with a school of midwifery in order that a tailor made plan can be developed. This is usually for those midwives who have been out of practice for more than 10 years.

There is a continuation of the trend of the past few years of midwives choosing to work part time

Table 6: Number of formal Return to Practice programmes finished each year between 2005/2006 and 2019/2020

Return to New Zealand practice

In 2015 the Council introduced a return to New Zealand practice programme for those midwives who have been practising overseas and who wish to return to practice in New Zealand.

This programme is a reorientation to New Zealand practice and includes a programme of education aimed at upskilling midwives on New Zealand specific issues.

While a number of education programmes are listed as requirements midwives have the ability to apply for exemptions to certain courses if they can prove that they have the required knowledge.

In 2019-2020 15 midwives successfully completed this programme

3. Competence, fitness to practise, and quality assurance

The Council has the responsibility to:

- provide mechanisms for improving the competence of midwives and for protecting the public from health practitioners who practise below the required standard of competence or who are unable to perform the required functions

a. Performance

The Council encourages midwives to engage in a process of self-reflection and professional development which will improve standards of midwifery care and contribute to quality improvement in the midwifery workforce.

In setting the competence standards and establishing a process by which to be reassured about the on-going competence of midwives, the Midwifery Council requires all practising midwives to participate in its Recertification Programme.

The Council draws on a pool of experienced midwives who are selected to undertake reviews

Competence reviews

There were 10 stage 2 competence reviews and two stage 1 reviews undertaken by the Council in 2019-2020. The tools commonly used in reviews include viva testing in which components of clinical competence such as history taking, physical examination, documentation, communication, reference to evidence based practice, referral guidelines and professional behaviour as well as clinical skills are assessed against standards of competence expected of a midwife. The Council appoints two reviewers for a stage two review, one who is an educator skilled in assessment of competence and one who is representative of the practice context of the midwife undergoing the review. The Council has a pool of experienced midwives who are selected to undertake the reviews.

Members of competence review panels during the 2019-2020 year were:

Alison Andrews	Claire Hotchin
Janine Clemons	Marion Hunter
Susan Crabtree	Nicola Jackson
Siobhan Connor	Teresa Krishnan
Robin Cronin	Debbie McGregor
Rebecca Hay	Adrienne Priday

b. Recertification/continuing competence

Recertification Programme

The Recertification Programme requires midwives to undertake various education courses and activities over a three year period in order that they can demonstrate to the Council and to the public that they are competent and safe to practise.

Currently, the combined emergencies skills day remains an annual requirement. Rather than specifying certain continuing education, the Council accepts education which has direct relevance to the midwife's professional role and which enhances and leads to development of her practice as meeting this requirement.

Annual reports received from accredited providers demonstrate the amount and diversity of education that is provided across New Zealand for midwives.

The components of the Recertification Programme until 31 March 2021 are:

- Declare competence to practise within the Midwifery Scope of Practice (annually on application for APC)
- Practise across the Scope over a three-year period
- Maintain a professional portfolio containing information and evidence about practice, education and professional activities over each three-year period
- Complete the annual combined emergency skills day that includes maternal and neonatal resuscitation and maternity emergencies
- Complete 8 hours per year of both professional activities and continuing midwifery education
- Participate in New Zealand College of Midwives Midwifery Standards Review Process (MSR) at least once every three years*

 All midwives must undertake MSR every three years except for new graduate midwives who are required to undertake MSR at the end of their first year and third years of practice, before moving to three yearly.

The Council monitors all practising midwives' engagement in recertification. The Council still physically audits portfolios when issues around a midwife's competence arise or if a midwife appears to be consistently non-compliant with the programme. Through its registration database, it has linked the issuing of annual practising certificates to demonstrate engagement in certain components of the Recertification Programme.

Those midwives who were unable to satisfy the Council of substantial engagement with the compulsory components are required to undertake specific activities within defined time frames, with some midwives being issued with interim practising certificates until requirements are met and others not being issued an APC.

Midwifery Standards Review

All midwives are expected to undertake Midwifery Standards Review three yearly although this may be shortened with a further review being required in six or twelve months. Some classes of midwives for example new graduates and newly registered internationally qualified midwives are required to complete this process at more frequent intervals.

The purpose of the review is to assist midwives to reflect on their practice with midwifery and consumer reviewers and to formulate an on-going professional development plan. The review is focused on quality of practice and is not a performance appraisal. Consumer feedback and participation are an integral part of Midwifery Standards Review. The Council has contracted the College of Midwives to provide reviews.

Cultural Competence

The Statement on Cultural Competence which explains how culturally competent midwives must draw on the three frameworks of Midwifery Partnership, Cultural Safety and Tūrangā Kaupapa in building and maintaining relationships with women, was formally adopted by the Council in 2011.

In 2012, Otago Polytechnic made available a cultural competence course for internationally qualified midwives to provide them with the knowledge and skills required to achieve the Competencies for Entry to the Register of Midwives that relate to cultural competence in the New Zealand context. Completion of both this course and a Treaty of Waitangi workshop is compulsory for all internationally qualified midwives within two years of commencing practice in New Zealand.

The Council recognises that cultural competence is a key area of focus for further professional development. Accredited education providers the College of Midwives and Ngā Maia offer courses which include the practice frameworks of partnership, Cultural Safety and Tūrangā Kaupapa.

c. Health/fitness to practise

The Council has the responsibility to:

- protect the public by ensuring midwives are fit to practise

The Council received 19 new notifications of concern about a midwife's health which had affected her practice. In April 2019, 4 midwives remained under health monitoring following referrals in previous years. As at 31 March 2020, 29 midwives were under health monitoring.

The Council recognises that cultural competence is a key area of focus for further professional development.

6. Linking with stakeholders

The Council has the responsibility to:

- Communicate with the midwifery profession
- Liaise with health regulatory authorities and other stakeholders over matters of mutual interest
- Promote public awareness of the Council's role

eMidpoint

The Council published its regular electronic newsletter eMidpoint. As well as being sent by email to all midwives and other stakeholders, the newsletter is also published on the Council's website. There were increased communications to midwives as New Zealand entered alert level 4.

Be Sure

The Council published three new Be Sure document on the topics; 1 What to know when you're pregnant, 2 Questions for your midwife and 3 Annual Practising Certificates.

New Zealand College of Midwives

The College is a membership organisation and it supports midwifery practice. The Council has regular face to face meetings with College as both organisations have an interest in ensuring that the regulatory processes for midwives are integrated in a professional framework and that appropriate standards of midwifery practice are maintained so that the public can be assured of safe and competent midwifery care.

Ministry of Health

The Council has met with the Maternity Advisors and Maternity Team on a number of occasions during the year. It also met with Health Workforce New Zealand and the Health Quality and Safety Commission. The Council has proactively worked with analysts within the Health Workforce team to ensure that the ministry has robust and accurate workforce data. Engagement with the Ministry increased significantly at the time of COVID and the transition to Level 4 lockdown.

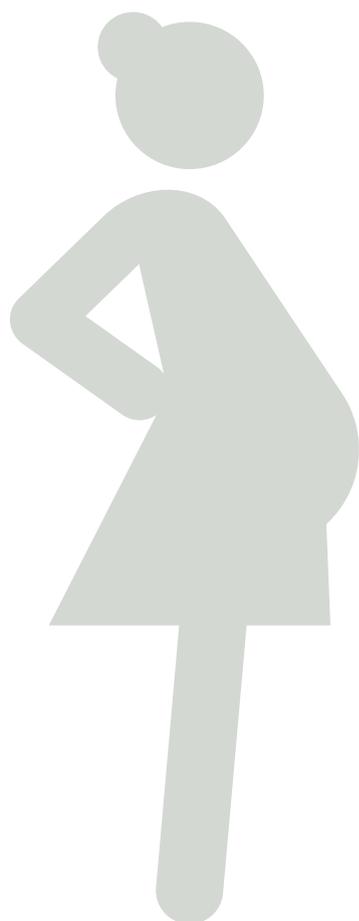

Health Workforce New Zealand: Midwifery Strategic Advisory Group

The Midwifery Strategic Advisory Group was established to provide strategic advice and guidance to the Ministry of Health and the sector to ensure a sustainable and supported midwifery workforce now and in the future. The Council's representatives on this group during 2019 were Chris Mallon and Dr Susan Calvert.

Health Workforce is now a separate unit within the Ministry, and in early 2020 work began on performance reviews of Responsible Authorities.

Ministry of Health: National Maternity Monitoring Group

The Council has no representatives on the NMMG. The NMMG was established in 2012 as an advisory group to the Director-General of Health. It provides oversight and review of national maternity standards, analysis and reporting and provides advice to the Ministry of Health (the Ministry) and District Health Boards (DHBs) on priorities for improvement in maternity services.

District Health Boards

The Council maintains good working relationships with DHB midwifery leaders, women's health managers and midwifery educators. The Chief Executive is also an ex-officio member of the DHB midwifery leaders' group.

ACC

The Council has had representation on a number of ACC expert advisory groups and workstream. Registrar Dr Susan Calvert has been part of the Fetal Anticonvulsant Syndrome working party, the Risk of Harm Advisory Group and the GAP implementation working group. She and Chair Chris Mallon are also part of the Fetal Heart Monitoring working group.

Australian Nursing – Nursing and Midwifery Board of Australia

The Council has a Memorandum of Understanding with the NMBA to work closely over policy and professional issues relating to the regulation of midwives. The Council has been managing a joint project on an outcomes based assessment Framework for Internationally Qualified Midwives. This is due for completion in 2020.

Australian Nursing and Midwifery Accreditation Council

The Council has a Memorandum of Understanding with ANMAC to cooperate and liaise over Trans-Tasman midwifery matters relating to the education, accreditation and assessment of midwives.

South Pacific Chief Nursing and Midwifery Officers Alliance (SPCNMOA)

The Chief Executive participates in the bimonthly teleconferences of SPCNMOA which bring together nursing and midwifery leaders in regulation and education to discuss and plan effective programmes for the Pacific in regulation, education, legislation and service delivery.

Health Regulatory Authorities New Zealand Collaborations

HRANZ provides a forum for all the health regulatory authorities to share information and to work on matters of common interest in carrying out our roles under the Act. The Council has actively participated in HRANZ, particularly focusing on amendments to the Health practitioners Competence Assurance Act and the Access to Secondary Legislation project. HRANZ was disestablished as a formal entity in 2019, however Chief Executives and Registrars of the RA continue to meet to discuss matters of common interest.

15. SHARED SERVICES

In 2015/16, Nursing Council of New Zealand, Occupational Therapy Board of New Zealand, Podiatrists Board of New Zealand, Dietitians Board, Midwifery Council of New Zealand, Psychotherapists Board of Aotearoa New Zealand, Osteopathic Council of New Zealand, Chiropractic Board, Psychologist Board, and Optometrists & Dispensing Opticians Board entered into an agreement to co-locate to 22 Willeston Street, Wellington. The lease agreement for 22 Willeston Street (signed solely by Nursing council of New Zealand) is for five years taking effect from 22 February 2016 and expiring on 22 February 2021.

To facilitate the management of shared resources, including a joint lease agreement for office rental purposes and corporate supports, the ten RAs entered into an agreement for the provision of corporate services.

16. COVID-19 IMPACT

On 11 March 2020, the World Health Organisation declared the outbreak of COVID-19 (a novel Coronavirus) a pandemic. Two weeks later, on 26 March, New Zealand increased its COVID-19 alert level 4 and a nationwide lockdown commenced. As part of this lockdown all staff were required to work from home until level two which came into effect on 11 May 2020.

At the date of issuing the financial statement, the Board has been able to absorb the majority of the impact from the nationwide lockdown.

However, economic uncertainties have arisen which may have a financial impact on the Board:

- 1) The potential loss of income from registered practitioners not renewing their Annual Practising Certificate. This impact is currently low as most have already renewed for the 2020-2021 year.
- 2) The potential loss of income from new registrations caused by the delay of students not completing their qualification in this year. However, with the move to level 1 it appears that students should not be impacted. The situation will continue to be monitored.
- 3) Increased expenditure for the Board to develop and publish guidance plans for practitioners on how to work under the restrictions imposed by COVID-19 and plans to minimize the impact on staff.
- 4) Additional expenditure, however, has been offset due to less travel costs and cancellation of overseas conferences.

INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT TO THE READERS OF
MIDWIFERY COUNCIL OF NEW ZEALAND
PERFORMANCE REPORT FOR THE YEAR ENDED 31 MARCH 2020

The Auditor-General is the auditor of the Midwifery Council of New Zealand. The Auditor-General has appointed me, Chrissie Murray, using the staff and resources of Baker Tilly Staples Rodway Audit Limited, to carry out the audit of the performance report of the Midwifery Council of New Zealand on his behalf.

Opinion

We have audited the performance report of the Midwifery Council of New Zealand, that comprise the entity information, the statement of financial position as at 31 March 2020, the statement of financial performance, the statement of movements in equity and statement of cash flows for the year ended on that date and the notes to the performance report that include accounting policies and other explanatory information.

In our opinion the performance report of the Midwifery Council of New Zealand presents fairly, in all material respects:

- the entity information,
- its financial position as at 31 March 2020; and
- its financial performance and cash flows for the year then ended; and
- comply with generally accepted accounting practice in New Zealand and have been prepared in accordance with Public Benefit Entity Simple Format Reporting – Accrual (Public Sector).

Our audit was completed on 25 August 2020. This is the date at which our opinion is expressed.

The basis of our opinion is explained below. In addition, we outline the responsibilities of the Council and our responsibilities relating to the performance report, and we explain our independence.

Basis of opinion

We carried out our audit in accordance with the Auditor-General's Auditing Standards, which incorporate the Professional and Ethical Standards and International Standards on Auditing (New Zealand) issued by the New Zealand Auditing and Assurance Standards Board. Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Responsibilities of the Auditor section of our report.

We have fulfilled our responsibilities in accordance with the Auditor-General's Auditing Standards.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Impact of Covid-19

Without modifying our opinion, we draw attention to the disclosures about the impact of Covid-19 on the Council as set out in Note 16 to the performance report.

Responsibilities of the Council for the performance report

The Council is responsible for preparing the performance report that is fairly presented and that complies with generally accepted accounting practice in New Zealand.

The Council is responsible for such internal control as it determines is necessary to enable the preparation of the performance report that is free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the performance report, the Council is responsible on behalf of the Midwifery Council of New Zealand for assessing the Council's ability to continue as a going concern. The Council is also responsible for disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting, unless there is an intention to liquidate the Midwifery Council of New Zealand or to cease operations, or there is no realistic alternative but to do so.

The Council's responsibilities arise from the Health Practitioners Competence Assurance Act 2003.

Responsibilities of the auditor for the audit of the performance report

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the performance report, as a whole, is free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion.

Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit carried out in accordance with the Auditor-General's Auditing Standards will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements are differences or omissions of amounts or disclosures, and can arise from fraud or error. Misstatements are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the decisions of readers taken on the basis of the performance report.

We did not evaluate the security and controls over the electronic publication of the performance report.

As part of an audit in accordance with the Auditor-General's Auditing Standards, we exercise professional judgement and maintain professional scepticism throughout the audit. Also:

- We identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the performance report, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
- We obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Council's internal control.
- We evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by the governing body.
- We conclude on the appropriateness of the use of the going concern basis of accounting by the Council and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Midwifery Council of New Zealand's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditor's report to the related disclosures in the performance report or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Midwifery Council of New Zealand to cease to continue as a going concern.
- We evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the performance report, including the disclosures, and whether the performance report represents the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.

We communicate with the Council regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

Our responsibility arises from the Public Audit Act 2001 and section 134(1) of the Health Practitioners Competence Assurance Act 2003.

Independence

We are independent of the Midwifery Council of New Zealand in accordance with the independence requirements of the Auditor-General's Auditing Standards, which incorporate the independence requirements of Professional and Ethical Standard 1 (Revised): Code of Ethics for Assurance Practitioners issued by the New Zealand Auditing and Assurance Standards Board.

Other than the audit, we have no relationship with, or interests in, the Midwifery Council of New Zealand.
